Community Transport

The purpose of community transport is to meet the needs of specific transport disadvantaged groups in the community including isolated families, frail aged, younger people with disabilities and their carers. Community transport gives access to recreation, shopping, education, medical care, social services and social contact where conventional public transport systems are not generally considered viable or appropriate. Community Transport is a HACC (Home & Community Care) programme and although fees are charged, eligible clients can receive services regardless of their capacity to pay. Check with your local Community Transport service for detailed information on the fees, variety of services and the level of physical assistance that is available.
